this book discusses a rich variety of voices from the margins and experiences of living in the postmillennial globalised world represented in selected novels by irish canadian british american serbian australian iraqi and māori authors contributions focus on illustrative examples of the contemporary novel that reflects acute awareness of globalizing processes and the rising tension between global and local identities discourses and trends in its diversity the book serves to map voices from the new margins overshadowed by the intense pressure of globalization whether these new margins are ethnic minorities living in globalized centres of contemporary metropoles or authors whose national local or regional voices are marginalized by works with more global ones they are equally deserving of the attention of general readers university students and literary scholars the book will primarily appeal to scholars in the fields of literary gender postcolonial and food studies but will also be of interest to a broader readership involved in explorations of literary works in the context of globalizing processes film has long been defined as a temporal art most famously by andré bazin and andrei tarkovsky yet more fundamentally it has always been a spatial art transporting its audiences imaginatively to spaces and places other than those they literally inhabit in the digital era this spatial illusion and paradox has been greatly expanded by the predominance of domestic film viewing along with new extra terrestrial perspectives and the promise of novel kinesthetic experiences with virtual reality and immersion the international authors in this collection address the history and aesthetics of screen media as spatial transposition in a range of exemplary analyses that run from the landscapes of john ford s westerns to chantal akerman s claustrophobic domestic spaces from the conventions of the english country house film to patrick keiller s robinson roaming a changed country and from the experiences of covid pandemic confinement to those of un homed van dwellers in chloe zhao s award winning nomadland
